

Curious

By

Dave Krunal

©2013 all rights reserved

davekrunal46@gmail.com

EXT. STREET - DAY

A young man, TOM is walking on the street. He sees wastes on his left side. His eyes particularly stopped himself for one object. It is an old Polaraid Film camera. He picks up the camera with curiosity in his mind.

INT. APARTMENT - DAY

Tom enters into the apartment and closes the door. He puts his keys, mobile and wallet on the desk. He looks at the camera from every angle and finds that there are three colored buttons - yellow, blue and red.

He presses the yellow button and shoots a random view of his living room. After few seconds, the camera beeps. He gets a bit shock and looks at the camera. Suddenly, a photo comes out from the camera which is completely white. He takes out the photo and looks up to find anything in it. The photo slowly develops and shows a color image of a toy [with laughing face] placed on his TV unit. He gets surprised because the toy-can on TV unit is closed. He looks at the photo and camera again and goes near the TV unit. He sits down on his knees and looks carefully at the toy-can. Suddenly, a laughing face blows out from the toy-can with weird music. He gets scared and his body falls back. He suspects that camera can predict the future.

He presses the yellow button again and takes a photo of his TV. Another photo comes out from the camera after a beep. The photo displays a random number [46] from the TV show - Deal Ya No Deal. He switches on his TV and at the same time, he starts timer on his iPhone. After one minute, he sees same number [46] on the show. He switches off the TV and now really gets more curious about the camera.

He slowly walk towards the wall and looks at the poster. There is a hot girl in bikini. He smiles. But, this time he presses the blue button and takes a photo of that poster. Camera beeps. He is excited to see the image being clicked. After few seconds, a photo comes out with same picture as poster. He gets a bit disappointed and looks at the blue button. He turns around and sees the same girl which is in the poster with scary face. He gets terrified. Suddenly, the girl presses Tom's neck while looking at him with her deadly eyes. He starts screaming and falls on the floor. But no one is around. He checks his neck to make sure it's not injured. He looks at the camera again and curious to know about the last red button.

He takes the camera and thinks for a while what to do with the red button. He picks up a magazine kept on the table to looks for something. He suddenly finds a picture of a gun from the magazine and clicks using the red button. Camera beeps again. His heart starts pounding. A new photo comes out from the camera. As he tries to look at the photo, suddenly the table starts shaking. He gets panic and topples from his chair. The photo slips away from his hand. He looks around and finds that photo near the couch. He sees a picture of a gun in it. Table shakes again. He sees there is something beneath the magazine and walks slowly towards the table. He lifts the magazine with his shivering hands and finds a gun. He looks at the gun with amazement. After thinking for a while, he puts the gun on his waist.

(CONTINUED)

He stands in front of the mirror with the camera. He looks at all three buttons in the mirror. He is scared and excited at the same time. Finally, he frames himself on the mirror, presses three colored buttons together and takes a photo. Camera keeps beeping this time. Suddenly, a clone of himself appears near the mirror. A clone has same cloths, camera and a gun. A clone is angry and having deadly eyes. Camera stops beeping. A photo comes out from both the cameras. Tom and his clone are eager to see what is in it. A photo slowly develops. Their heart starts pounding. Tom sees the photo and panics. The clone also looks at the photo and panics. They looked at each other. Both takes out their gun and shoot each other. We look at the photo from Tom's dead body. It shows dead Clone. We look at the photo from Clone's dead body. It shows dead tom.

FADE OUT: